READY-MADE DETECTIVES.

How a Bookkeeper Became a Videoq on the Very First Night of His Work.

"I got into the detective business," said an operator in that line, "without knowing what I was doing."

"How did that come about?"

"Why, you see, I happened to be out of a job—I was a bookkeeper—and was watching the advertisements in the newspapers, when I saw a notice of 'office help wanted.' I answered and before I realized what was up I found myself sitting in the cooling room of the agency, waiting for orders.

"That was an awful long day, you bet. Nobody said anything to me, and no orders came. I just sat there wonderin' what was coming and what the work was to be. [illegible] a coming party and 'put him to bed.'

"I didn't know what he meant, but I soon found out. 'Shadowing' is following a person everywhere, and making exact observations of everything done. When the party is traced to lodgings, and there is no indication of his going out again that night, we have 'put him to bed.'

"I was taken down to a drug store, where a clerical-looking man was quietly pointed out to me. You can make up your mind I felt queer. Somehow the instinct of a cat watching a mouse came over me all at once.

"That man moved about carelessly, and in less than five minutes he had 'lifted' half a dozen small articles. My orders were to let him work, but to keep tab on all he did. The only pointer I had was that he was a minister afflicted with kleptomania.

"I put him to bed all right in a fashionable south-side boarding house, and I dodged around till nearly morning for fear of his coming out.

"The next day I handed in my report to the chief, who ordered me to appear personally. He proved to be the man who had put me on the trail. Before he had finished reading my report, in walked my clerical chap, grinning like a Cheshire cat.

"'You'll spoil your complexion,' said he, 'if you stay up every night till 3.30, my son.'

"By gum, it was 3.30 when I went off watch the night before. He had simply been testing me. I was too mad and surprised to turn the laugh on him.

"'If you want any tooth powder or soap,' said he, 'I carry neat lines o' them goods.'

"And he actually laid down the articles I saw him pinch the day before. He said a few words to the chief and went out."—Chicago Tribune.

COPYING ON BLOTTING PAPER.

A Contrivance That Can Be Made Handy and Cheaply by Anybody.

A German paper says that the following process will make blotting paper available for making copies of letters.

Soak four parts of the best clear glue in a mixture of five parts of pure water and three parts of ammonia liquor until the glue is dissolved, and add three parts of granulated sugar and eight parts of glycerine, stirring the mixture well and letting it come to the boiling point.

While it is hot paint it wi h a broad brush on clean white blotting paper until the latter is thoroughly soaked and a thin coating remains on the surface. Let it dry for two or three days.

The writing to be copied must be done with ordinary aniline ink, and to transfer it the blotting paper should be wet with a sponge, and then, after it has stood for a minute or two, the latter should be pressed down softly upon the damp surface.

After a few moments it can be taken off, and there will be an impression on the blotting paper, from which several copies can be taken, and which can be partially renewed when the impressions grow faint by dampening the blotting paper again.

ADDING UP THE ROUNDS.

How a Few Drinks a Day Would Run Up to Barrels in Time.

"How many drinks of whiskey do you average a day?" said one gentleman to another, as they were enjoying a social glass at a restful resort yesterday afternoon.

"And how long has this been going on?"

"Straight along for twenty years, I guess, but it never hurt me any, and I can attend to my business just as well as I ever could."

"But how much whiskey, taking your own statement for it, do you suppose you have drunk during that time?"

"I'm sure I don't know. I never thought about that."

"Well, let us take another nip and then figure on it," and they did, and here is the result of their work:

"Ten drinks a day would be 70 drinks a week, or 3,650 drinks in a year. In 20 years that would give the enormous number of 73,000 drinks. Now, the average drink taken in this country is said to be 60 to a gallon. Then divide this 73,000 by 60, and you will find that you have consumed 1,216 gallons and a fraction. Divide 1,216 by 36 and you will find that you have drunk just about 34 barrels of the stuff."

The old toper looked at the figures and then at his friend, and then remarked: "Well, let's take one more, and then I'll give my stomach a rest for a day or two."

—This is the toast which the modest Irishman drank to the Englishman: "Here's to you as good as you are, and here's to me as bad as I am, but as good as you are and as bad as I am, I'm as good as you are as bad as I am."

—A steward wrote to a bookseller in London for some books to fit up his master's library, in the following terms: "In the first place, I want six feet of theology, the same quantity of metaphysics, and near a yard of old civil law in folio."

—Mrs. Finigan: "He's no better, doctor. You towld me to give him as much of the powder as would lay on sixpince. I hadn't a sixpince, but I gave him as much as would go on five pinnies an' two halfpinnies, and it's done him no good at all, at all."—Funny Folks.

POTENT WOMEN'S WILES.

An Interesting Reproduction from Early American Literature.

Among the rare and quaint examples of our early literature, rescued from the oblivion of dusty library shelves, is Edward Holyoke's "Doctrine of Life or of Man's Redemption" (1688), which, we venture to say, will be new even to antiquarians. It is the world-old story over again of woman's wiles and man's easy subjection.

Tirzana, Princess of Moab, and one of Solomon's wives, beguiles the King into granting her the right to build a chapel on Mount Olivet for the practice of her idolatrous rites, "to the ruin of his Kingdome and posterity," and very cleverly the minx does it.

Choosing a specially favorable occasion [illegible] when [illegible] she [illegible] to him [illegible] his religion, which, she says, "is very cross to many natures, and [illegible] with great terror and [illegible]." However, religion was never touched, and she had most devout notions of it; and therefore, "with an humble deportment of body with her face to the ground," she asked the favor of building a chapel.

Solomon was greatly shocked, and proceeded to give her a sermon in five heads upon the wickedness and perverseness of her conduct, as well as setting her right, with some asperity, in her claims as to the wonderful achievements of her god Chemosh, and convicting her of sundry grave historical errors.

"Although the King had thus brayed her as wheat with a pestle in a mortar, yet her folly departed not from her." She began to cry, of course. "Having her Handkercher in her hand, with snubs of umphs and imphs, fell at the King's feet," begging him to grant this request, and promising him that not one of Israel should come into the holy place.

He refuses, she persists; he is obdurate. "Ymph, umph," bears. And thus she is dismissed and departs the presence of the King.

But she doesn't give up. She sends her brother, a "notable, insinuating, crafty instrument, who on a time came to Solomon's Court, and having seen and heard an excellent concert of music, of instruments of all sorts as also the voices of singing men and singing women, which he admired and praised, and extolled the King, as if all had been of his invention. Also he magnified the King for his excellent endowments in contriving his plots for buildings, and his wisdom in natural philosophy, and his rare gift in song, and his wonderful instinct to speak of the natures, virtues and effects of trees, shrubs and herbs, of fowls, beasts, fishes and creeping things, etc."

With this artful preface Tirzana's brother opened the subject again, but with no success. Then she "fell sick and was very sad."

The King went to see her, and "she wept abundantly." Only Tirzana! Then the King had "some relenting in his heart."

"A man of ingenuity cannot endure, unless a Nabal, a Fool, a Churl, to see his near and dear consort to weep. . . ." The King, after he had in a most pleasant manner saluted her, departs, and then her spirit was revived, color began to be in her cheeks, and lightsomeness in her countenance."

Then Mr. Holyoke asks the reader to "pardon" him in "a digression," wherein he treats of Adam and Eve, Satan's dealings by the Japanese and Jambrees, and other instances of women's wiles, which "corrupt other women, and after a little while men follow their wives, and corruptions gangrenate quickly, and spread far."

Some months afterward the King called for Tirzana again. She comes "in all costly raiment, cloth of gold and silver of curious needlework, with chains of inestimable jewels about her neck, that the beams of her spankled raiment with the precious gems made radiant beams (the sun shining through the windows) upon the walls of the King's palace as she passed; and at last enters the chamber of presence, honored virgins attending her, and presents herself before the King with her orient eyes, damask rosy cheeks, twinkling eyelids, cherry lips, and all festivity and grace of speech."

Poor Solomon! It was all up with him then. She got her chapel.—New York Tribune.

DUCKS IN CHINA.

Their Vast Number and Importance as Food for the People.

In the matter of ducks, were there any way to find out, it might be found that China contained more than all other countries put together.

Ducks are a staple food for rich and poor, and the number one sees everywhere are something bewildering. The vast swarms of tame ducks feeding in the fields or foraging in the lakes and rivers everywhere throughout the empire are one of the most striking features of the country.

You no sooner cross the bar of a Chinese river than you begin to see big droves of ducks foraging along the banks for food, in charge of duck herds. Duck sampans float past you—boats fitted up especially for the business of rearing ducks—their quacking cargoes numbering not infrequently 2,000 ducks.

These queer craft fairly swarm on the lower reaches of the Pearl River, in the vicinity of Canton. During the memorable typhoon of July, 1882, that wrought such destruction there, many of the duck sampans were capsized and the ducks released. The result was that the river for some distance was a mass of tame ducks for the time being without owners.

By the unwritten law of the duck-rearing fraternity, every duck that gets away from a boat becomes a "maverick," and, like the unbranded steer of Western ranges, is the property of anybody who can gather him in.—Thomas Stevens.

A Rift in the Clouds.

Old gentlemen (to elevated road brakeman)—"Your life, my young friend, I imagine is a laborious one, and full of trials."

Brakeman—"Yes, sir; but there are moments when it is filled with blessed peace and happiness and joy."

Old gentleman—"When you are paid off, I s'pose?"

Brakeman—"No, sir; when I can slam the gate in the face of somebody who is in a big hurry."—New York Sun.

"Were it possible for every voter of the Republic to see for himself the condition and recompense of labor in Europe, the party of free-trade in the United States would not receive the support of one wage-worker between the two oceans."—JAMES G. BLAINE.

DEMOCRATS AND TRUSTS.

The Newark Advertiser says: From this time forth no Democrat need open his lips to say a word about "trusts." He and his party are hopelessly committed in support of this peculiar form of monopoly. The vote in the House on the sugar amendment to the Mills bill fixes the last link in the chain of damning evidence. These are the three great monopolists, the managers of which control prices at their will: The Standard Oil Trust, the Sugar Trust and the Whisky Trust.

The first of these is the most gigantic monopoly in the world. It crushes all opposition and fixes the price of a universally used commodity with the utmost nicety. No man can buy a gallon of kerosene or other coal oil products at a price less than that which the Standard Oil trust has made for him. The branch Oil trust ramifies into every branch of the government, into every branch of commerce. Its representative in Mr. Cleveland's Cabinet is Mr. Whitney, Secretary of the Navy. Its representative in the Senate is Mr. Payne, Senator from Ohio. Its representatives in the House are J. H. Outhwaite, of Columbus, Ohio, and W. L. Scott, of Erie, Pa. All these gentlemen are Democrats.

The largest consumer of tin plate in the United States is the Standard oil trust. That concern demands that tin plate, used for its packages, shall be placed on the free list. The obedient servants of the Standard oil trust have reduced the tariff on tin-plate in the Mills bill so that the duty is to be placed at its lowest possible notch. The demand for the reduction of the duty on tin plate comes from no other source than that of the great many armed polypus—the Standard oil trust.

The Cincinnati Freie Presse, one of the most influential German papers in the West, puts the truth in a nutshell when it says: The friends of our country and its industries are the 151 Republicans and four Democrats who voted against the Mills Free Trade bill. Its enemies are the 165 Democrats and four Independents who voted for Mills's bill.

"A SQUARE ISSUE."

On Tuesday Thurman, "The Old Roman," started out on his campaign, and on his road to Toledo, Ohio, made several short addresses, but they were long enough to place himself fairly and squarely before the country as a Free Trader, and to warn the country that should he be elected—which, of course, he will not be—he would give a casting vote in favor of a Free Trade bill in case the Senate should perchance be evenly divided politically, or between the friends of Free Trade and Protection. This is a clincher for those Democrats who insist that their party is not for Free Trade. At Delaware he said:

"I have heard in my long practical experience a great many attempts to humbug, but of all the attempts I have ever seen or heard of, the pretentions that a high protective tariff is for the benefit of the laboring man is the greatest humbug."

And yet the Democracy admit that the country is prosperous under our Republican Protective Tariff; and they know that there are thousands of laboring men throughout the country who have nice little "nest eggs" in the savings banks of the country. What has done all this good, if it is not the Republican Protective Tariff? It cannot be denied, that should the Mills Tariff bill become a law many of our manufacturing establishments would necessarily close, and those who had been steadily employed at remunerative wages would be obliged to draw out their little savings to keep the wolf from the door, instead of weekly adding to their little gains for a life of ease in their old age. Cleveland and the "Old Roman," and every intelligent Democrat is well aware that the thousand and one articles, of necessity and luxury that go to make the life and home of the American workingman and mechanic pleasant ones, are now furnished, under the influence of a Protective Tariff, much cheaper than under the free trade Democratic Administrations of other years, owing to the competition among manufacturers, who make smaller profits on their wares, but more in the aggregate, on account of their cheapness making the consumption so much the greater, which enables them to continue paying remunerative wages to their employees. The hue and cry of the Democracy that manufacturers are being enriched at the expense of the people is the veriest "bosh." The demand for many articles is so great that manufacturers, let their profits be never so light, are bound to get rich, and people will express their astonishment that such articles can be made and sold for so small a sum. Without a Tariff our people would be obliged to go without many luxuries and conveniences that now add to the pleasures and happiness of American home life. Thurman has thrown aside the mask and his Democratic supporters must take their choice between Protection and prosperity, or Free Trade and no "home surplus" in the savings bank.

The Cleveland Leader brings to light the fact that the Treasury Department has transferred national funds to the amount of about $1,500,000 to the Ohio Bank, of which Mr. Brice, Chairman of the National Democratic Executive Committee, is the controlling spirit. Chairman Brice is not to go unpaid for the time he devotes to Mr. Cleveland's cause, nor is his bank to be without the wherewith to buy mules and meet all incidentals.

NEW TO-DAY.

FOR COUNTY TREASURER.

JOE A. BROWN,

ALBANY, N. Y.

The latest shirt issued under the "Acorn" Brand is "THE WONDER," and it is also the best shirt ever made for the Trade.

The following are some of its principal points of excellence, a printed list of which is attached to each shirt:

1st—It has the finest and heaviest muslin ever put in a shirt, (Utica Nonpariel improved).

2—It has a 3-ply linen bosom.

3—It is of extra length.

4—It is reinforced, both back and front, extending and meeting under the arm where most needed.

5—It has the Tomlinson patent endless facing.

6—It is custom make and finish.

7—It cannot break or tear anywhere.

Like the Deacon's "one-hoss shay," it has no weak spot, and will never "give" anywhere, but, at the end of scores of years, it will dissolve into specs—not a thread broken or a seam started.

Fathers will bequeath these shirts, purchased in early manhood, a priceless legacy to their children.

We expect a large demand for them to place in the corner stones of linen structures as evidence of the greatest triumph of modern civilization.

We are taking steps to put this crowning achievement of art into the "Acorn" agencies in London, Paris, Berlin, St. Petersburg and Constantinople, when it can not fail of instant and permanent success.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

Personal.

District Attorney Virden left for San Francisco this morning, via Sweetwater, to be present at the opening of the Supreme Court, for the September Term, on the 3d.

C. M. Reed and daughter, of Corning, N. Y., will leave for San Francisco to-morrow morning, via Sonora, Big Trees, etc.

Mrs. Frank P. Willard and children came over from Bodie this morning for a short visit while Mr. Willard is on the jury; Mrs. M. T. Chappel and Mrs. Beck and children also came over this morning.

THE WATER SUIT.—The water suit of Kirman & Rickey vs. N. B. Hunnewill et al. commenced on Monday, when the impaneling of a jury commenced. Monday and Tuesday were consumed in getting a jury, the victims in the jury box having to undergo a tiresome examination in regard to "water rights," "irrigation," "riparian rights," etc., etc., until late Tuesday afternoon when the last man was accepted and the jury sworn in as follows: John Hopper, J. O. Wheeler, N. Daniels, M. R. Holundrop, G. W. Vansickle, M. T. Chappel, F. M. Richardson, F. P. Willard, Thos. Murnane, J. Z Lockwood, W. H. Russell and R. Terry. R. S. Miner is counsel for Kirman & Rickey, and J. E. Goodall and W. O. Parker appear for Hunnewill, and C. A. Schuman for D. E. Jones and the Virginia Creek Hydraulic Mining Company. W. A. Harris, of Dayton, Nevada, is the official Reporter

WILL BE WELCOME.—We are pleased to note that the Democratic Central Committee on Saturday evening last called a County Convention to be held at Bridgeport on the 12th of September. The to-be members of the Convention and candidates may rest assured the people of Bridgeport will endeavor to make their visit to our town as pleasant as they may know how to do, and make them feel so much at home as to make them almost wish they could have a convention here every week and have it last all the week. On behalf of our citizens we thank the Committee for the compliment.

SCARCE.—Democrats are getting to be so scarce in Nevada that at some precincts the Democrats have been obliged to put Republicans on as Judges at their coming primary elections. This appears to be the case in Mono county, as we notice a Republican is named as Inspector at one precinct in the call for the Democratic Primary on the 29th of August. There is nothing mean about the Republicans, and if there is anything we can do to assist our Democratic friends in getting up a first-class County Convention we are at their command.

SCHOOL FUND APPORTIONMENT.—Superintendent Hampton has made the following apportionment of school monies:

DISTRICT.	STATE.	COUNTY.	LIB'Y
Bodie	$99 22	162 40	11 02
Bridgeport	41 61	81 20	5 51

Total	$446 48	$739 78	$49 00

REPUBLICAN.—The Republican Central Committee met at Bodie on Saturday evening last to arrange the ticket and other matters for the coming Primary Election. Twenty candidates paid in their $10 apiece and their names were ordered placed on the ticket. The Committee adjourned to meet on the evening of September 15th to canvass the returns of the election.

THE CAUSE.—It is thought the earthquake last Saturday night was caused by the "pungling" of twenty Republican candidates of $10 apiece—$200, at the Republican Central Committee meeting on that evening. If such is the case we may look for a streak of "blue lightning" when the primary election votes are canvassed by the committee on the 15th of September.

THE LUCKY ONE.—The fine secretary and book-case belonging to the late David Jeffreys, formerly County Clerk of this county, was raffled off on Wednesday evening for the benefit of the widow, who resides in Santa Barbara county. W. H. Russell, of Benton, threw 45 and captured the prize, worth about $100.

OUR HAY CROP.—It is said that Washington Territory will this year cut 30,000 tons of hay. It is probable that the crop of hay of our Bridgeport Big Meadows will be, at least, one-third of that amount—say 10,000 tons—and it has not been a good hay year, either, there having been a scarcity of water.

DEMOCRATIC.—At a meeting of the Democratic Central Committee held at Bodie on Saturday evening last, it was decided to hold a County Convention at Bridgeport on September 12th, the primary election to be held on August 29th.

HOT.—This week has been a very hot one, the thermometer yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock standing 100 in the shade.

THE REPUBLICAN PRIMARY TICKET.—The following is the Republican Primary ticket to be voted on the 8th of September. Voters will scratch the names of those they do not wish to vote for They are all good:

OUR DISTRICT FAIR.—Our farmers and stock raisers are much disappointed at the action of the Directors of this, 18th Agricultural District, in appointing the Annual Fair at Independence at so early a date—nearly a month earlier than last year. Our farmers are in the midst of their harvest and will not get through in time to attend the Fair, as many intended to do this year Had it been fixed for October there would have been quite a cavalcade from Bridgeport, many ladies having arranged to go, and several head of fine stock would have been exhibited. As it is too late now to remedy the matter, we trust the Directors will next year fix the date some later in the Season, so there will be no reason why the farmers, who are the backbone and muscle of such exhibitions, should not take an interest in it.

A SERENADE.—On Monday evening the Bridgeport Brass Band serenaded C. M. Reed and daughter, of Corning, N. Y., at the Leavitt House. After playing several airs Miss Reed thanked the members for their compliment, and Mr. Reed invited them to partake of his hospitality. Mr. Reed and Miss Mary have made hosts of friends during their short visit to our town, and they carry with them the best wishes of all who have had the pleasure of meeting them. They leave here to-morrow for San Francisco, via Sonora, and will make a tour of the State before returning home.

THANKS.—We are indebted to C. Mulholland, editor of the Inyo Independent, and Secretary of the 18th Agricultural District Association, for a kind invitation to visit the Fair at Independence next month. We regret that we are compelled to be at home at the date of the Fair, but we had arranged to go with the Bridgeport visitors had it been a few weeks later.

A MUSICALE.—Last night a musicale, in which the Bodie Glee Club, and Mrs. E. A. Brown and W. O. Parker, of this place, took leading parts, was given at the Leavitt House in compliment to C. M. Reed and daughter, of Corning, N. Y. It was a very pleasant affair.

FUN TO-NIGHT.—Remember that to-night Prof. Jackson will give an entertainment at Bryant's Hall. This will be a pleasing boon to the "irrigationists" and "riparian" advocates now in attendance on the Superior Court. Give the Professor a bumper.

MORE JURORS.—On Wednesday Judge Hakes ordered the names of sixty jurymen drawn from the jury box, the bearers of the same to appear before the Superior Court on the 30th inst.—Thursday next.

FOR DISTRICT ATTORNEY.—Frank P. Willard, of Bodie, will be a candidate before the Democratic County Convention for the office of District Attorney.

AN EARTHQUAKE.—A "right smart" shock of earthquake was felt here at 1:30 on Sunday morning last.

IMPOSITION.—Our citizens are justly incensed at the imposition practiced on them by the Sonora fruit teamsters. The fruit brought here—or at least nine-tenths of it—is nothing more than wind-falls, the poorest that can be scraped together in the Sonora orchards, and for which our people are charged exorbitant prices. Ten cents a pound for peaches the size of hickory nuts and seven and eight cents a pound for wormy and rotten apples don't go with our people any more. Z. Pierce, of Wellington's, Nevada, was here this week with the finest of Newcastle peaches, which he sold at $1 50 a box, about a dollar cheaper than the Sonora fruit. As Mr. Pierce will probably make regular trips to this place we recommend our people to buy of him and let the Sonora fruit go to Bodie.

OFFICIAL REPORTER.—Judge Hakes appointed Messrs. Virden, Eddy and Parker to examine W. A. Harris for official reporter. The law requires a speed of 150 words per minute for 5 consecutive minutes. Mr. Harris wrote with ease during that time 820 words and read the same back with perfect accuracy, being 164 words per minute.

DEMOCRATIC CANDIDATES.—Under "New To-day" will be found the announcements of M. J. Cody, for Sheriff, and Eugene Fitzgerald, for County Clerk, Auditor and Recorder, both subject to the decision of the Democratic County Convention.

FOR TREASURER.—Joe A. Brown, of Bridgeport, announces himself under "New To-day" as a candidate for County Treasurer, subject to the decision of the Republican Primary Election, September 8.

PIONEER BANQUET.—The Pioneers will have their annual banquet at Allen's Hotel on Monday evening, September 10th, in honor of Admission Day. See advertisement.

AT BODIE.—Prof. Jackson will give an entertainment at Bodie on September 6th.

ROUND TO GO.—Salisbury has a choice lot of shoes for sale at cost.

LADIES, when you go to Bodie, call on Salisbury and get your dress goods at cost.

MUST GO, CAN'T HELP IT.—Selling goods at cost. Salisbury will give all a fair show.

VERY FOOLISH.—The Veteran Firemen, an association of exempt firemen of this State, recently organized in San Francisco, desired to visit Sacramento on Admission Day, and, very properly, desired to have the Sacramento Exempt Association receive them. The Sacramento Exempts, however, refused to do so, on the ground that they were not old firemen. Herein the Sacramentans were at fault and acted foolishly. We know that a large number of the members of the San Francisco Association are old firemen of California, some having done noble duty in Sacramento in early days. The San Franciscans go to Santa Cruz on that day, by invitation.

On Tuesday evening, at Toledo, Thurman made a square Free Trade speech and said that Protection was a humbug. He will ascertain on the 6th of November that the great majority of the American people are of a different opinion.

Tom. Cunningham has been Sheriff of San Joaquin county twenty-two years, and is a candidate for re-election. When the people of that county get a good officer they know how to keep him, and other counties can follow suit to their advantage.

Now, girls, there is a chance.

THE PROTECTIONIST.—This is a newspaper published in San Francisco by E. Clark Smith and Frank Bates in the interest of Protection and the laboring man. We trust it will live and prosper and do good duty from now until the 6th of November.

Helping the Right Side.

To help the right side is not only commendable in a general point of view, but is judicious and prudent when that help is enlisted in behalf of the right side of the body, just over the lower ribs in the region of the liver. The most efficient help is afforded by Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, an anti-bilious medicine of incomparable efficacy. Inaction of the liver is accompanied by constipation, sick-headache, furred tongue, nausea, occasional vertigo, an unpleasant breath, yellowness of the skin and ball of the eye. The author of these symptoms, liver complaint, routed by the Bitters is accompanied by them in its flight. Fever and ague, which always involves the liver, dyspepsia, rheumatism, debility and kidney troubles are all maladies to the early relief and final cure of which this medicine is adapted. Don't use it by fits and starts, but systematically, that its full effects may result in a perfect restoration of health.

They Have no Blaine.

"Dan," said the President, uneasily, "the Republicans appear to be arranging a 'tremendous reception' for Blaine on his return from Europe. Do you think he will take an active part in the campaign?"

"There can be no doubt of it," replied Dan, "it would be exactly like him."

"Dan," said the President again, after a pause, "we have no—er—ah—Blainer, have we?"

"Lord! no," ejaculated Dan, sighing heavily. Another pause.

"Dan," resumed the President, eyeing him closely, "have we no—is there no Democrat that could make as big a sensation on coming home from Europe as Blaine will make?"

"None," answered Dan, quite positively. Chicago Tribune.

CHRONICLE-UNION.

AUGUST 25, 1888.

THE POPE'S TRIPLE CROWN.

The Stitrens, the Gold, the Pearls, and How They Are Guarded.

The popes did not always wear the three-crown tiara. At first they wore an ordinary mitre, with one crown around it, and then a second was added to it, then a third, when it took the name of triregno (three kingdoms).

This explains why sometimes the simple mitre is used and sometimes called the triregno.

We read of the form and splendor of the pontifical mitres in pontifical inventories. Some of them weighed as much as ten pounds, or even more; they were decorated with cameos and stones, inlaid with figures, rings and other precious ornaments, fastened to the mitre like drooping pearls, crosses and other kinds of jewel then known.

In 1499 Eugene IV. had a mitre made in France by Lorenzo Ghiberti, which weighed five pounds, of which four pounds were of precious pearls and gems and cost over 40,000 gold ducats. It was the mitre which Eugene IV. afterward pledged to Florence for $50,000, which he gave to the Greeks.

Till the end of the last century there were four precious mitres in existence—two made for Pius V. and Paul V., the latter of whom spent $70,000 on his mitre, and two were made for Paul VI. The two first were kept in Castle St. Angelo and were taken out for great ceremonies.

When taken out they were guarded by the Pope's jeweler, and were accompanied by the same jeweler all through the procession and ceremonies of the day. Even when placed on the altar they were under the jeweler's custody. The other two mitres were kept in the pontifical sacristry.

Pius VI.'s first mitre was made in 1780. It had a gold foundation, decorated with gold threads and pearls threaded with silver, also many precious stones of all kinds. At the back it was decorated with the pontifical arms. The ribbons were also covered with gold, pearls and diamonds.

The second mitre of the Pope was made in 1781, and was decorated in the same manner, only in a different pattern, and the foundation was in silver instead of gold.

All these four mitres were broken up by Pius VI. in 1797, in order to pay the French what was stipulated in the peace of Tolentino.

Not one of the mitres offered to Leo XIII. for his jubilee is of the value of either one of the above stated mitres. But even the present ones are valuable enough, especially for these days.—Catholic News.

TOO LONG TO WAIT.

Why the Inexperienced Stranger Was Mad at the Century Plant.

There was a man at the vegetable market with a small and sickly-looking century plant in a cheap pot, and he was mad.

"Look a-here!" he said to the owner of each flower stand in succession, "didn't you sell me this 'ere plant five years ago?"

Each one answered in the negative. Then he made such a row that a policeman came up and told him to hush.

"Haven't I got a right to talk?" demanded the man in high dudgeon. "When I have been swindled, cheated, robbed and made a fool of, must I keep silence in this free land?"

"What is the cause of your woe?"

"I bought this plant of somebody here about five years ago. They told me that it was 93 years old, and that it would bloom this spring. I've fooled away enough time on the thing to build a house. I've sat up nights to nurse it, and I've gone home by day to keep it from freezing."

"Well, what's the matter?"

"They lied to me! I've had two botanists examine it, and they tell me the plant isn't 10 years old! Think of my fooling around for 90 years to see the infernal thing flower out!"

"But what can you do?"

"I want to find the hyena who put up the job on me. I'll make him eat the whole outfit or break his neck!"

"Never!"

He lifted the pot high in the air and dashed the life out of the poor plant, and then sat stiffly down on a bench, folded his arms and said:

"Ring for your old patrol wagon if you want to! I'm going to sit right here till I get eyes on the man who put up a 93-year job on a confiding citizen!"

The Horse Minds His Steps.

Every one has noticed, while driving, how rarely a horse steps on a stone even when going very rapidly. A well informed writer quotes an old cavalry man as saying that a horse never steps on a man intentionally. It is a standing order with cavalry that should a man become dismounted, he must lie down and be perfectly still. If he does so, the entire company will pass over him and he will not be injured. A horse notices where he is going, and is on the lookout for a firm foundation to put his foot on. It is an instinct with him, therefore, to step over a prostrate man. The injuries caused by a runaway horse are nearly always inflicted by the animal knocking down, and not by his stepping on them.

How To Drink Milk.

Some complain that they cannot drink milk without being "distressed" by it.

The most common reason why milk is not well borne is due to the fact that people drink it too quickly. If a glass of it is swallowed hastily it enters into the stomach and then forms in one solid, curdled mass, difficult of digestion.

If, on the other hand, the same quantity is sipped, and three minutes at least are occupied in drinking it, then on reaching the stomach it is so divided that when coagulated, as it must be by the gastric juice, while digestion is going on, instead of being in one hard, condensed mass, upon the outside of which only the digestive fluids can act, it is more in the form of a sponge, and in and out of the entire bulk the gastric juice can play freely and perform its functions.—American Analyst.

$500 REWARD

is offered by the manufacturers of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, for a case of Catarrh in the Head which they cannot cure.

SYMPTOMS OF CATARRH.—Dull, heavy headache, obstruction of the nasal passages, discharges falling from the head into the throat, sometimes profuse, watery, and acrid, at others, thick, tenacious, mucous, purulent, bloody and putrid; the eyes are weak and watery; there is ringing in the ears, deafness, hacking or coughing to clear the throat, expectoration of offensive matter, together with scabs from ulcers; the voice is changed and has a "nasal twang"; the breath is offensive; smell and taste are impaired; there is a sensation of dizziness, with mental depression, a hacking cough and general debility. Only a few of the above-named symptoms are likely to be present in any one case. Thousands of cases annually, without manifesting half of the above symptoms, result in consumption, and end in the grave. No disease is so common, more deceptive and dangerous, or less understood by physicians.

By its mild, soothing, and healing properties, Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy cures the worst cases of Catarrh, "Cold in the Head," Coryza, and Catarrhal Headache.

Sold by druggists everywhere; 50 cents.

"Untold Agony from Catarrh."

Prof. W. HAUSNER, the famous mesmerist, of Ithaca, N. Y., writes: "Some ten years ago I suffered untold agony from chronic nasal catarrh. My family physician gave me up as incurable, and said I must die. My case was such a bad one, that every day, towards sunset, my voice would become so hoarse I could barely speak above a whisper. In the morning my coughing and clearing of my throat would almost strangle me. By the use of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, in three months, I was a well man, and the cure has been permanent."

"Constantly Hawking and Spitting."

THOMAS J. RUSHING, Esq., 2902 Pine Street, St. Louis, Mo., writes: "I was a great sufferer from catarrh for three years. At times I could hardly breathe, and was constantly hawking and spitting, and for the last eight months could not breathe through the nostrils. I thought nothing could be done for me. Luckily, I was advised to try Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, and I am now a well man. I believe it to be the only sure remedy for catarrh now manufactured, and one has only to give it a fair trial to experience astounding results and a permanent cure."

A complete Treatise on Catarrh, giving valuable hints as to clothing, diet, and other matters of importance, will be mailed, postpaid to any address, on receipt of a two-cent postage stamp. Address,
